Facebook Community Input Survey ($3,000)

Space Jam crowdsources local consumer opinions to help local leaders and retail real estate professionals understand what people want in their neighborhoods. Through the use of social media platforms and artificial intelligence, Space Jam Data interacts with consumers about specific retail properties and converts the feedback to actionable intel. The insights collected from local shoppers help local leaders and retail real estate professionals lease, manage, and market a retail property more efficiently. The tool surveys locals with personalized questions through Facebook messenger, serving as a new way to communicate with local shoppers and revolutionizing traditional survey methods.
